Feedback:

- There are too many buttons.

- Too long texts to read (difficult to read, too many technical terms) --> See privacy page.

- Child does not like purple as a color.

- Does not like scroll option (in main menu, from left to right).

- More pictures (for example, insert a picture for the profile-button in the menu).

- Kids want to see names next to their profile pictures (on the friends list).

- Profile page is too green. She would like pink more than color.

- She likes the color pink on the 'Create a new group' page. But she does not quite understand how to create a group and why she should create a group?

- She didn't understand how to get to the profile page of the other person in a single chat.

- She didn't understand why in a group you have both: the settings and the menu.

- Instead she likes the GIFs we added.

- She understood the voting function and also knew how to use it.

- It was not understood that the three dots at the bottom of the group page lead to the group chat. She thought that you should wipe left or right.

- Settings: She liked the buttons and the icons (Symbols).

- It was too complicated to write down the phone number of the KJR. Idea in the new prototype: Insert buttons for phone and email to call directly.
